The Shepherd Psalm con't from pg. 3

He restoreth my soul—that's Healing!
He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness—that's Guidance!
For His name sake—that's Purpose!
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death—that's Testing!
I will fear no evil—that's Protection!
For Thou art with me—that's Faithfulness!
Thy rod and Thy staff, they comfort me—
that's Discipline!
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies—that's Hope!
Thou anointest my head with oil—That's Consecration!
My cup runneth over—that's Abundance!
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life—that's Blessing!
And I will dwell in the house of the Lord—
that's Security!
Forever—that's Eternity!

Remembering Jesus

by Rob Alright

As we take the bread and fruit of the vine, we remember Jesus. He died on the cross, not because of His sins, but He died on the cross for our sins. 1 Peter 2:24 says, "He himself bore our sins in his body on the tree, that we might die to sin and live to righteousness. By his wounds you have been healed." (ESV)

The nails that went through his hands and feet were not for any sins he had done. They were for my sins and for your sins. The crown of thorns was placed on his head so that I might die to sin and live the new life as a disciple of Christ. When you die to something you separate yourself from it.

We separate ourselves from a life dominated by sin to live a life dominated by righteousness. (Romans 6:13).

When we die to sin we do not live in it any longer (Romans 6:1-2). Jesus died so you and I might have that opportunity to live a Christ-like life. Shouldn't that be our goal? Jesus allowed himself to be sin for us

Why? (2 Cor. 5:21) "So that, in him, we might become the righteousness of God"

Let that sink in as we study about the Lord's Supper
today and share in this time of remembering Jesus.

Reports of His Death

by David Bragg

There are three dates you should keep in mind as you read this article: 1897, 1900, 2012.

The first is the most debatable because the circumstances have, ironically, been exaggerated. One of the most popular versions has it that while Mark Twain was in London an American newspaper erroneously printed the humorist's obituary. When asked to comment on this mistake Twain reportedly replied, "The reports of my death are greatly exaggerated." Twain would go on living for another 13 years.

The second date, 1900, was the year that German philosopher Friedrich Nietzsche passed away. He was 55 years old. He is perhaps best known for his observation, printed in various works, declaring that "God is dead." In intervening years his comment, and what various writers suppose he meant by it, have been widely debated.

The third date is 2012. In that year American theologian William Hamilton died. Hamilton is perhaps best known for an article appearing in the April 8, 1966 issue of Time Magazine entitled "Is God Dead?" Liberal theologians, skeptics and atheists rallied around Hamilton's observations as if it somehow justified their anti-religious views.

All three of these dates are important to consider. Let me state the obvious. There is one date that can not be given because it has not (and never will) exist: the date of God's death. Twain is in his grave. Nietzsche is no more. Hamilton is dead. Yet God, the eternal God, lives.

*Before the mountains were brought forth,
Or ever You had formed the earth and the world,
Even from everlasting to everlasting,
You are God. (Psalm 90:2)*

The Shepherd Psalm

The Lord is my Shepherd—that's a Relationship!
I shall not want—that's a Supply!
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures—that's a Rest!
He leadeth me beside the still waters—that's a Refreshment!
